This is a crucial conversation. That's why we launched Defining Zionism in the 21st Century, Hadassah's provocative conversation series. Each month, we add a new speaker, sharing diverse perspectives. All are available in easy-to-share mini segments, designed to start conversations.

Help create new norms around civil discourse and mutual respect in conversations about Zionism and Israel's future. These conversations will have the greatest impact if members and supporters like you watch, discuss, and share—via email, social media, or your living room.

Whether you host a small discussion, a community event, or lead a conversation, we've got all the tools to engage others who, like you, care about the future of Israel. Register your Zionism-related event proposal at Hadassah.org/zionismevents and let us help you plan a meaningful program in your community.
