THE GOLDEN AGE OF YIDDISH THEATER PRESENTED BY MARK LEVY

From its beginnings in Romania to its bustling theaters on Second Avenue in New York, Yiddish theater actually enjoyed two golden ages.

Avrom Goldfaden, Boris Tomashevsky, Jacob Adler, Molly Picon, Aaron Lebedef, Jenny Goldstein, and Moishe Oysher—just a few of the great actors and singers who graced the Yiddish stage over a 50-year period—will be featured in this class in vintage recordings and films.
