

A CONVERSATION WITH ESTHER ERMAN

Do you love books? Reading them? Writing them? Both?

Author Esther Erman discusses the last six months' changes in the publishing industry and how they contribute to the evolution of a book from an author's perspective. The writing and development of her trilogy "The Journeys of Rebecca" provide an excellent background to illustrate these latest changes. Esther is excited to have completed the first book in her trilogy, "Rebecca of Salerno", and is working on the second. Come join us to chat, ask questions, share wisdom and have a fun night talking about books!

*Raffle for Hadassah Sequoia Chapter members: Prizes are a print and an e-copy of Esther Erman's latest book, "Rebecca of Salerno".

Esther Erman, originally a Jersey girl, has lived in the Bay Area for the last two decades with her second (and last!) husband. As a long-time language teacher, of French and English, Esther has always been a voracious reader, and writing is a natural extension of her love for language and books. She has written under three names: Mardi Ballou, for the sexy romance; Meg Bellamy, for mainstream romance and "women's" stories; Esther Erman, for a family story presented in her upcoming medieval mystery/love story.
