Do you know the history of how and why your family arrived and survived in the United States? This could be the story of your parents, grandparents, great-grand parents.

Susan will share stories through interview videos and her personal experiences with subjects in the book, how she chose who to interview and the importance of her endeavor. This book is based on interviews with seniors at Sholom East and West, including our own Fanny Schanfeld. Her book has been called "A moving story that captures much of the fabric of Jewish life in the early 20th century in Minnesota, a sensitive rendering of the accounts of the Holocaust survivors, a compelling narrative of the most recent wave of Jewish immigrants from what was the U.S.S.R. ...compelling and insightful...a touching, and important contribution..."

Susan is an artist, writer and genealogist, but in all her pursuits, her medium is “story”. She believes that story is how we understand our connection to each other. We Spoke Jewish explores the three waves of Jewish immigrants to the United States in the 20th century. This book tells the stories of the Jews of early immigrant communities, the Holocaust survivors who came post-war, and the immigrants from the former Soviet Union who came in the latter part of the century.
