

“Let’s get organized for another great year of advocacy for women’s health care, Israel, social justice, combatting anti-semitism and much more! Hadassah is a member of the Jewish Public Affairs Committee of California (JPAC), the largest statewide association of Jewish organizations in the nation and Hadassah women from all over the state will be attending the annual JPAC Advocacy Day in Sacramento on May 6 and/or May 7 at the Sheraton Grand Hotel.

If you want to be educated about state issues of importance to women and the Jewish Community, Sacramento is the place to be. We will hear from policy experts and legislators on a variety of issues and then we’ll team up with folks from each of our areas in the state to visit the Capitol to lobby our legislators and have our voices heard.

Please register for the Conference by right-clicking on the REGISTER HERE below to open the hyperlink. You can choose the one day, May 7, or plan to come on May 6 for the evening program. Region will cover your cost for the hotel, based on double occupancy, and your travel to Sacramento. JPAC has blocked rooms at the Sheraton and the link is provided once you register for the Conference. For those of us arriving on May 6, we can plan a no-host dinner together following the Legislators’ Reception.

You will have a great time while doing something meaningful . . . We guarantee it!”
