Hadassah, the Women’s Zionist Organization of America, is a volunteer organization that inspires a passion for and commitment to its partnership with the land and people of Israel. It enhances the health of people worldwide through its support of medical care and research at the Hadassah Medical Organization in Jerusalem. Hadassah empowers its members and supporters, as well as youth in Israel and America through opportunities for personal growth, education, advocacy and Jewish continuity.
FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Dear Members of Hadassah Chicago-North Shore,

Hadassah has a new logo. It intertwines the H for the English word for Hadassah and the Hebrew letter hey for the Hebrew word for Hadassah. Along with the logo is our tagline “WOMEN WHO DO.” This rebranding was launched in January as we move forward into our second century.

While logos are created to identify organizations and tag lines are used to convey an organization’s mission, it is the people and the work they do that defines an organization’s impact. And you are the essence of Hadassah—WOMEN WHO DO.

As Hadassah women you have helped build the organization and you want to ensure we continue to attract and engage women. So, I charge you with an important task; to reach out to the women you meet and tell them your Hadassah story. Ask them to join us and as we embark on our second century. Because our story is an incredible one. And our future is just as promising.

Hadassah women’s impact is felt throughout the United States, in Israel and globally. Women come together in Hadassah Chicago-North Shore (Hadassah CNS) because they share a vision; to make the world a better place through healing. As WOMEN WHO DO we translate this to actions.

When we come together and turn our vision into a reality we are able to accomplish life changing results for people in Israel, the United States and the world. As you read this bulletin, you will see what your work and your contributions have made possible. You will see how HADASSAH WOMEN HEAL, HADASSAH WOMEN ADVOCATE, and HADASSAH WOMEN LEAD.

We look forward to seeing you at our upcoming events. Your participation will ensure that 2015 is another year full of milestones for Hadassah Chicago-North Shore.

On behalf of those who benefit from your continued support, I thank you. As we move into our second century, we still have important work to do. The need is still great. Continue to tell your Hadassah story. You will inspire and engage women. You are the essence of Hadassah; its identity. You are the HADASSAH WOMEN WHO DO.

ADVOCACY: THE HADASSAH WAY

We are fortunate to live in a country where we can participate in shaping policies as voters and as advocates. When you join Hadassah's 50-State Advocacy network and sign up for Advocacy alerts you make your voice heard. Log onto www.hadassah.org and select Take Action/Advocate and visit Hadassah's National Action Center. There you will see Hadassah's Policy Priorities. You will be provided with the background information and sample letters to send to your Representatives and Senators right from Hadassah's site. Stay informed on the latest legislation before Congress and support Hadassah's policy priorities and initiatives.

Gender Equity in Medical Research (GEM)

A multitude of diseases are often misdiagnosed, or overlooked entirely, in women because medical research, diagnostic tools, and treatments are frequently based on male physiology. Far more men than women are medical research subjects. Even animal and cellular research subjects are overwhelmingly more male than female. Symptoms for many diseases do not present the same way in men and women, and too many research institutions still ignore the role of gender in medical outcomes. Heart disease is the number one killer of women, yet only 1/3 of research subjects are female. According to the National Institutes of Health (NIH), women and men respond differently to many drugs, including antihistamines, blood pressure medicine, anesthesia, aspirin, sleep aids and more. We’re advocating to increase gender equity in medical research.

Women’s Preventive Health

Preventive health promotes wellness, disease prevention, early detection – empowering women and men with knowledge to make appropriate and informed medical decisions for themselves and their families. With the implementation of the Affordable Care Act, new resources are available for optimal health. Urge your Representatives to cosponsor the Women's Preventive Health Awareness Campaign Act and participate in Every Beat Counts: Hadassah’s Heart Health Program™. Be your own best advocate!

Human Trafficking

There is an epidemic of human trafficking in the United States. This crime has been reported in all 50 states. The House of Representatives recently passed laws to help in the fight, but Congress must do more. Let your representatives know that this is an issue that matters to you. Ask them to join you and respond to this issue by taking a lead against human trafficking.

Affordable Child Care

Lack of access to quality, affordable child care is a major barrier to work-life balance and financial stability for women and families. In poorer families, child care can cost up to 55% of the family income. Tell your legislators that affordable child care is a necessity.

AT THE INTERSECTION OF HEALTH AND ECONOMICS

Excerpted from The New York Jewish Week, 1/21/15, Michele Chabin, Israel Correspondent

Jerusalem — It was a bitter cold Jerusalem evening but that didn’t stop about 50 female teachers and staffers at the ultra-Orthodox Beis Yaakov School in Geula from attending an evening lecture on “Healthy Home Baking.”

Tired though they were from a day’s work and caring for their families, the women listened with rapt attention to the lecturer, a young charared woman, as she explained which flours and sweeteners are healthy and which ones to avoid, and how trans-fats endanger heart health.

The women nodded in agreement when the lecturer underscored that meals, including the ones served on Shabbat and the chagim, should be healthy meals, and that the simpler the meal the faster the preparation.

Once the lecture ended the women examined the recipes for carrot date muffins, fragrant orange cake and apple oatmeal pie they had received when they entered the auditorium. (continued on page 9)

HAILING FROM 17 COUNTRIES: THE 39TH GRADUATION CLASS OF HADASSAH’S INTERNATIONAL MASTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH PROGRAM

Hadassah’s impact is also international. The International Master of Public Health (IMPH) program of Hadassah-Hebrew University’s Braun School of Public Health and Community Medicine trains health care professionals to respond to the unique health care challenges in their countries. Keynoting the 39th graduation ceremony was 1999 IMPH graduate, Dr. Anna Marzec-Boguslawska, Director of The National AIDS Center, Warsaw, Poland. Her topic was: “Bringing it All Together: Building on the IMPH experience for effective responses to public health threats in an ever-changing world.”

The comprehensive multidisciplinary 12-month IMPH experience prepares graduates to face some of the world’s toughest health challenges in their home countries, to take up key leadership positions, and to educate others in enhancing public health. Since its inception in 1961, the IMPH degree has been awarded to over 800 graduates from 90 low-income countries in Africa, Asia, Latin America, Eastern Europe, as well as developed countries of North America and Western Europe.

Last year’s class of 21 graduates from 17 countries drew students from Nigeria, China, South Sudan, the Philippines, and Haiti, to name just a few. Its graduates will be returning to deal with Ebola, polio, and HIV/AIDS, as well as ongoing challenges, such as maternal and child health and nutrition.

In addition to gaining the broad skills needed to work in public health, each student has his or her own area of interest. Dr. Andrew Bucu of the Philippines, for example, is concerned with disaster relief; Dr. Kandyang Jansuk of South Sudan runs a radio program on public health; and Juliet Wanjiru Maina of Kenya works in a displaced persons camp. Whatever their specializations, they return home as informal ambassadors for Israel and Hadassah.
(continued from page 8) The ongoing lecture series for charedi women is part of a wide-ranging heart health initiative run by the Linda Joy Pollin Cardiovascular Wellness Center for Women at Hadassah Hospital, Jerusalem. Launched a year-and-a-half ago, the Pollin center reaches out to Israel’s most disadvantaged communities—charedi Jews, Arabs and the disabled—because statistically “there is a link between health and economics,” says Osnat Kerder, the center’s interim director. Elisheva Leter, the health psychologist coordinating the charedi women’s program, cites studies showing that charedi women visit doctors less frequently and are at higher risk for cardiovascular and other health problems. “In the charedi community it’s particularly challenging to get health information to women. There is less exposure to the secular media and sources of health information. They also have less time because most are taking care of large families while also working to support their families.” Furthermore, says Leter, there’s a community focus on giving, taking care of others, and they put themselves at the bottom of the list.”

The participants have learned to spot the signs of a woman having a heart attack, about the benefits of physical activity and how to cook and eat more nutritiously, and this information has led to a change in the school environment. Teachers are imparting the information to their students and practicing at home what they’ve learned. Says Orit, 45 a teacher, mother of nine and grandmother of five, “my children are slowly, slowly getting used to the idea of healthy eating. Change takes time.”

PROVIDING A SAFE HAVEN IN ISRAEL

There are Jewish children who live in Israel at risk and in need of rescue. With guidance, nurturing, and first-rate instruction, students at Hadassah youth villages learn the skills they need to succeed in modern-day Israel.

Dani showed signs of emotional and physical neglect when he arrived at Hadassah Neurim Youth Aliyah village. At age 14, from a broken home, he had no interest in school and his social interactions were often violent.

With the skill, warmth and persistence of the Youth Aliyah staff, Dani now feels empowered. And he has begun to make friends and be part of the community.

He is on track to becoming a productive and fulfilled citizen of Israel.

YOUTH ALIYAH SCHOLARSHIPS

Educating Jewish Youth remains central to Hadassah’s mission. Scholarships support Youth Aliyah’s annual mission to Poland, where 100-plus students visit the Warsaw ghetto and the Auschwitz/Birkenau concentration camps to better understand the Holocaust and its place in their Jewish heritage.

While in Birkenau, one of our group leaders reminded us: “We stand here at the center of evil. But this is also a holy place. The ashes of the dead are still beneath our feet. We honor them. We remember them. And we come as witnesses. Their greatest fear was to be forgotten. We say today, here on this cemetery of our people, you are not forgotten. You stand here—100 youngsters—representing the million children who were murdered. Like you, they dreamed of the future. They didn’t die in vain. Out of their ashes grew the State of Israel.”

The only constant in life is change. Some transitions, such as a well-earned retirement, are happily anticipated, while others take us by surprise: recent divorce, an unexpected death or a sudden illness. Are you ready?

Hadassah is partnering with Jewish Women International (JWI) to bring you an important new series: Know Your Worth: Own Your Future.

Designed with our members in mind, Know Your Worth: Own Your Future will explore how to ensure long-term economic security, including managing income streams; honing your financial and negotiating skills; investing and growing your money; all in the context of the Jewish values that underlie these decisions.

If these are some of the questions you have been asking yourself, then sign up today!

- What do I need to do differently, now that I'm in a new phase of my life?
- What documents should I have and where are they?
- How should I invest my money and who should I listen to?
- How can I be generous in the spirit of tikkun olam and manage my budget at the same time?

Hadassah Chicago-North Shore was chosen as one of four pilots for this workshop.

Every Step Counts: Hadassah’s Walking Program

You’re invited! Walk with us on a virtual route from our NY headquarters to our hospitals in Jerusalem. Challenge yourself, your chapter, your family and friends to take real steps to a healthier life. All you need are a pedometer, comfortable shoes, and a commitment to get yourself moving! There are three challenge levels (one’s perfect for you!) You’ll record your steps online with Walker Tracker. Walker Tracker will even dozens of other activities to add to your totals, such as housecleaning, biking, or using a wheelchair. We’re serious about our fun. Come walk with us into your healthy future. Even ten minutes at a time can change your life.

“Simple changes in terms of physical activity can prevent a very large percentage of heart disease...I think the most important message for a woman to take home is how much is really in her own hands and under her control.”

Eat, Drink & Remarry:
Confessions of a Serial Wife

Featuring Margo Howard, daughter of Ann Landers

Despite her many years of offering relationship advice as a syndicated columnist—not to mention her pedigree as the daughter of the woman the world revered as Ann Landers—Margo Howard had to walk down the aisle four times before getting it right.

Now the outspoken and witty Howard shares the sometimes rueful, always optimistic story of her adventures in pursuit of the perfect mate.

Eat, Drink and Remarry is an endearing book about second (and third and fourth) chances, about the sometimes cockeyed optimism of love and about finding what's right for you—no matter how long it takes.

Honoring Lillian Mann

Twenty-two fulfilling and productive years with Hadassah all began with a friend's invitation to attend a book and author luncheon for Wilmette Hadassah. “Hadassah, what does Hadassah do?” asked Lillian. That afternoon, she listened, liked what she heard and became a member then and there. As Education Co-Vice President on the executive board of Hadassah Chicago-North Shore, she works to bring programs such as our well-known Summer Camp and the Winter Film series to our members and the community. Lillian’s passion and energy for Hadassah inspires us all!
